

Mark Your Calendar - Don't Miss The 2012 BMD CNC Beginners' Wilderness Backpack!

Last year was a blast and is highly recommended by all dogs. Join BMD CNC members and their Berner Friends Friday through Sunday, September 7th thru 9th for a fun repeat of our 2011 beginners' wilderness backpack trip in the Caribou Wilderness of Lassen National Park.

The 20,625-acre Caribou Wilderness, a gentle rolling, lake-dotted and forested plateau predominantly covered with lodgepole pine, lies on the eastern slope of Lassen National Park. (Link: See our trip details.)

This trip is geared for backpack beginners and their furry friends. You'll need basic backpacking equipment. (The trip leader has some equipment to lend.) (Link: Backpack equipment check list.) Of course, experienced backpackers are also welcome!

Trip cost is only $20.00 per participant for backpack food and supplies. The trip leader is a BMD CNC Board member and an experienced backpack guide. Contact Ken Harper, 510-932-9206, khwilderness@att.net, with any questions. Registration deadline is August 31st. To register send the registration fee, participant name (and dog), and level of experience to Ken Harper, 6529 Hazel Avenue, Richmond, CA 94805.

To see the links mentioned above go to our club website home page (<http://norcalbernese.org>), left hand column.